

OLD ELLIS ROAD EXTENSION FACT SHEET

PROJECT DESCRIPTION

North Fulton CID (CID) and City of Roswell are designing an extension of Old Ellis Road from its current western terminus to connect with the recently constructed Sun Valley Drive. The project will include widening the existing Old Ellis Road from Old Roswell Road to its current dead end, incorporating a center turn lane and 4-foot bike lanes on either side (illustrated in the graphic below in orange as “Current/Upgraded Roadway”). A new roadway will be constructed with a 560-foot long bridge to span across Foe Killer Creek (shown in yellow as “New Roadway”). The design also includes a roundabout at the intersection of Old Ellis Road and Sun Valley Drive. Other proposed improvements include curb and gutter, a 10-foot shared use path, sidewalks, and bike lanes.

PROJECT STATUS

The project is currently in the design phase. A potential construction timeline has not yet been established.
